Special Issues and Special Sections

Psychology Learning and Teaching (PLAT) (Impact Factor: 1.9) is an international peer-reviewed journal devoted to enhancing knowledge of how to improve learning and teaching of psychology. To this purpose, PLAT publishes contributions on good and innovative learning, teaching and assessment practices.

We are looking for Special Issues and Sections to address the most pressing and innovative topics in our field. We welcome any ideas for themes that align with our journal's scope and goals.
We offer accelerated publication process for Special Issues / Sections.

Potential themes explore current and emerging topics, such as:

The role of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in psychology learning and teaching

Psychological well-being or mental health issues among psychology students

The use of learning analytics in psychology learning and teaching
